AROUND AND ABOUT

--An all new program, "Optimism," drawn from Voltaire's "Candide," will be performed by the National Theatre of the Deaf through Sunday at Arena Stage's Kreeger Theatre. Three matinee performances will also be presented by The Little Theatre of the Deaf on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

--Commemorating Black History Week, Howard University is sponsoring a Festival of Black and African Culture through Monday, February 18.

--A reminder: The GCAA is sponsoring a benefit card party on February 20 in the Student Union at 7:30 p.m. to assist the National Health Care Foundation for the Deaf. Admission is $1. Please bring your own cards and tables.

--The Chronicle of Higher Education cited an action brought by the Women's Equity Action League against Delta Sigma Pi, a business fraternity which bars the admission of women from its membership. The League has asked HEW to advise 14 universities to sever connections with the society. Under the Education Amendments of 1972, universities receiving federal support are not allowed to administer groups that practice discrimination.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD

Perhaps you have noticed that the Safety and Security Force has changed its colors. Since the beginning of February, the day and evening security personnel have been wearing royal blue blazers, grey slacks, blue shirts and red and blue striped ties. Officers on the midnight shift will continue to wear their "police" type uniforms.

It is felt that these new uniforms will provide a low profile police image more in keeping with an environment of higher education and sophistication found on a college campus, while the old uniform will best serve the College community in providing security and a deterrent to crime during the late night and early morning hours.

Bill Farran welcomes your comments on this change.

SOME RECENT VISITORS

Following the lull during the holiday season, the number of visitors on campus seems to be picking up. On the first of the month, Dr. Waters and Dr. Ramger from Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee, spent the day at Gallaudet in preparation for establishing a program at their college for hearing impaired students.

Mr. Darrell Ellsworth from the Litzsinger Special School District, St. Louis, was visiting many of our programs last week. Mr. Ellsworth, who first became acquainted with the deaf as a minister for a deaf parish and then became a teacher, has been successful in introducing total communication into a number of classes in his school district.

Later in the week, we were pleased to have a small group of Blue Bird Girls from Bowie, Maryland, take a tour of the campus. The girls were so interested in the College that they have undertaken a project for our Preschool. In the next few weeks, they will be making bean bags, sandpaper alphabet letters and conducting a doll clothing drive.

On Thursday, approximately 60 members of the Twentieth Century Club, a local women's organization, will visit the College and see a demonstration by the Gallaudet Dancers.

ART AND CRAFTS EXHIBITION

Preparations are now being made for the annual Charter Day art and crafts exhibition. The exhibit will run from April 6 through April 26 in Chapel Hall. All members of the College community are invited to submit entries.

Entries will be categorized as follows: Group I - paintings, prints and drawings; Group II - photography and Group III - crafts (all media). A $1 entry fee will be levied for each item submitted in Group I or Group II. Persons submitting crafts will be charged 25¢ per shelf or table space (approximately 2x3 feet). These fees will help defer the cost of awards.

Ribbons and cash prizes will be given for winners in Groups I and II. Craft items will be judged if the number of entries in a category warrants. Judging of entries will be done by professionals prior to the opening of the exhibition.

For detailed information regarding regulations governing the exhibition, please contact Flo Crammatte (439-5075), or the Office of Alumni and Public Relations.
